The Marching Chiefs consists of approximately 400 young men and women from virtually every discipline and major available at the Florida State University. In addition to providing halftime pageantry for Seminole home football games, they regularly travel to away games and an annual post season bowl game. The Chiefs are also featured each fall as part of the exciting Tri-State Festival PRISM Concerts.

Seminole fans enjoyed great football and great halftime entertainment during the 2007 season. We kicked off the season with music from the epic movies of wartime heroes including the well known Theme from Patton, as well as the lesser known, but equally effective, Theme from The Great Escape. The music of rock supergroup Bon Jovi took center stage for our second show which featured a mix of early and recent Bon Jovi hits. For our third show, we revisited some classic tunes in the Southern Rock tradition including our sizzling rendition of The Devil Went Down To Georgia from the creative mind of the legendary Charlie Daniels. At season's end, we rocked Doak Campbell with jazz classics by Rob McConnell and Stan Kenton. This CD captures the energy and excitement of those legendary performances. We hope listening will bring back fond memories. Enjoy, and HAVE A NICE DAY!
